Affected Vehicles: All
Product(s): Engine Computer Upgrades (DME, ECU)
Subject: Shipping a DME/ECU to Turner Motorsport

After you have removed the DME/ECU from the car you must ship it to Turner Motorsport. Use extreme care any time you are handling a DME. Before touching it, ground yourself on a large metal object to discharge any static electricity. You should only ship a DME with anti-static materials – Staples and The UPS Store carry special packing materials or we can send you a shipping packet ahead of time.

Follow these procedures for packaging –

- Always ground yourself, even multiple times
- Use static-free packing materials such as newspaper or corrugated paper. Seal the computer inside a bag and keep away from fluids and chemicals. Do not use peanuts, bubble-wrap, or Styrofoam. Most shipping places sell anti-static packing material.
- Insure the package for $1,200 and choose the option for a signature upon delivery. UPS is our preferred carrier because the drop off is early in the day. Fed Ex Overnight may not be delivered to us until late in the day and that will result in a delay in programming your DME.
